PROFILE

I am a fullstack developer graduate from CodeYourFuture Bootcamp. Motivated with strong analytical skills and ability to work in fast paced and high stress environment with experience in collaborating with teams. Have excellent communication and stakeholder management skills. I am a curious person, well listener and problem solver. I am able to design and build websites and applications using technology stack I learned during my boot camp and my internships. I'm able to learn new programming languages quickly, refactor, write clean and efficient code. I am now looking for an opportunity to continue my professional development in a company where they want someone who can grow with a team and ship code.
